Students, artists, and Summer Fine Arts Intensive attendees of all ages have been discussing and depicting things that are meaningful to them at this unusual moment. The whimsy of art-making morphed into conversations about environmental issues disproportionately affecting the most marginalized and disadvantaged people worldwide. Who gets to have computers, make art? Getting the earth's leaders aligned with social justice and environmentally sustainable outcomes is a race with time that effects us all. Diverse exchanges plant our future's seed.

Bailey Drenik, Amity G., Heidi Hardin, Annika H., Trey Houston, Abigail & Zachary I., Colter Jacobsen, Evrim Kavcar, Cigdem Kaya, Dina Kharag, Madalina Kelner, Chetan Keshav, Samantha Kuang, Anna K., Marissa Kunz, Peter Li, Betzabe & Mara Moreno, William Scott, Saloni Sharma, Bette Spencer, Darshini Stark, Clark Tate, Aberswyth van Bueren, Josefa Vaughan, Roan V., Xander Weaver-Scull, Dorothy Yuki, Serena Z. & more
